This policy statement needs to be read in conjunction with the following school practice guidelines and documentation:

- Anti racism policy.
- Anti-bullying policy.
- Complaints and Representations Policy.

We believe that within our school there should not be inappropriate discrimination on grounds of gender, disability, race, religion, cultural background, linguistic background, sexual orientation or academic or sporting ability.

The Equal Opportunity Policy of the school expresses our commitment to equality and sets the standards that we aim to achieve in this important area of our work.

We believe that a policy for equality is not about:

- Being reactive.
- Taking the "high moral ground".
- Being emotional.
- Exclusivity.

We believe our policy for equality is about:

- Managing change.
- Building on good practice.

Leicester Community Academy - (The charity Leicester Educational Trust runs the school Leicester Community Academy)

- Developing trust.
- Raising awareness.
- Empowering everyone.
- Defining expectations.

- Ensuring clarity of principles and procedures.

In contemporary society, promoting the right approach to equal opportunities is very much part of the residential and educational task of the school.

Many equality issues will come out in general discussion with children and the staff team. This may occur after watching a TV programme or in debate during a staff meeting.

The main task of staff however, will be as role models. Members of staff will understand that the way they react to events, their casual comments and jokes will be seen as part of the role model that children and young people build on.

Our commitments to equality are:

- Building fairness into all that we do.
- Eliminating all forms of inappropriate discrimination which is in our power as a school to carry out.
- Listening, responding and working together with our students, their families, the staff team and outside agencies.
- Given the level of resources available to our school, we will provide services that are available to everyone who meets our eligibility criteria.
- Continually improving all that we do based on equality.
- Developing environments where everyone within the school community is valued and respected.
- Providing equality of opportunity in our employment practices.
- Providing learning and development opportunities for all of our staff to enable the school to fulfil our commitment to equality.

Leicester Community Academy - (The charity Leicester Educational Trust runs the school Leicester Community Academy)

- Working with other agencies to ensure our commitments to equality are delivered.
- Taking any complaints about the work of any department of the school seriously.

What is the purpose of the new Act?

The Equality Act 2010 brings together a number of existing laws into one place so that it is easier to use. It sets out the personal characteristics that are protected by the law and the behaviour that is unlawful. Simplifying legislation and harmonising protection for all of the characteristics covered will help Britain become a fairer society, improve public services, and help business perform well. A copy of the Equality Act 2010 and the Explanatory notes that accompany it can be found on the Home Office website

Who is protected by the Act?

Everyone in Britain is protected by the Act. The “protected characteristics” under the Act are (in alphabetical order):

- Age
- Disability
- Gender reassignment
- Marriage and civil partnership
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race
- Religion and belief
- Sex
- Sexual orientation

What behaviour is unlawful?

Under the Act people are not allowed to discriminate, harass or victimise another person because they have any of the protected characteristics. There is also protection against discrimination where someone is perceived to have one of the protected characteristics or where they are associated with someone who has a protected characteristic.

- Discrimination means treating one person worse than another because of a protected characteristic (known as direct discrimination) or putting in place a rule or policy or way of doing things that has a worse impact on someone with a protected characteristic than someone without one, when this cannot be objectively justified (known as indirect discrimination).

- Harassment includes unwanted conduct related to a protected characteristic which has the purpose or effect of violating someone's dignity or which creates a hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for someone with a protected characteristic.
- Victimisation is treating someone unfavourably because they have taken (or might be taking) action under the Equality Act or supporting somebody who is doing so.

Who has a responsibility under the Act?

- Government departments
- Service providers
- Employers
- Education providers (Schools, FHE colleges and Universities)
- Providers of public functions
- Associations and membership bodies
- Transport providers

What's new?

Most of the new Equality Act was already in place in the previous anti-discrimination laws that it replaces. This includes the Race Relations Act 1976, the Sex Discrimination Act 1975, and the Disability Discrimination Act 1995. In total there are nine pieces of primary legislation and over 100 pieces of secondary legislation being incorporated. Bringing it into one piece of legislation will make the law easier to understand and apply.

As the Act is an amalgamation and harmonisation of existing law, there aren't many massive changes. For example, indirect discrimination is being extended to apply to disability and gender reassignment for the first time. The prohibition on direct discrimination on grounds of pregnancy and maternity and gender reassignment will apply in schools for the first time. The Act also introduces some new provisions such as the prohibition on discrimination arising from disability.

What does the School mean by equality?

In our work with the pupils and in our employment practices equality of opportunity means:

- Providing fairness and equality of opportunity.
- Recognising that everyone is different and that these differences must be equally respected.
- Challenging discrimination so that we demonstrate our commitments to equality and do not exclude people or make them feel isolated.

We are fully committed to tackling all forms of unlawful or unfair discrimination including those on the grounds of age, asylum or refugee status, caring responsibilities, class, colour, disability (including physical, sensory impairment, mental health problems or learning disability), ethnic or national origin, gender reassignment, HIV status, language, marital status, nationality, part time working, race, religion, sex, sexuality or trade union membership.

What are unacceptable practices?

Discrimination is unacceptable and at Leicester Community Academy we believe it happens when someone is treated worse ("less favourably" in legal terms) than someone else in the same situation.

A pupil or member of staff may suffer discrimination for a number of reasons. It may be rooted in:

- Race
- Sex
- Disability
- Sexual orientation
- Religious beliefs
- Ability or otherwise in academic and sporting activities

At Leicester Community Academy we do not accept discrimination on the grounds given above.

At Leicester Community Academy we acknowledge that discrimination can be direct, indirect, intentional, unintentional or institutional. Whatever type and cause of discrimination is taking place, it is unlawful.

Leicester Community Academy - (The charity Leicester Educational Trust runs the school Leicester Community Academy)

Direct discrimination is where an individual or group receives less favourable treatment with some unjustifiable reason because of sex, race or disability, for example.

Indirect discrimination is applying unjustifiable requirements and conditions that have a disproportionate impact on an individual or particular group.

Institutional discrimination is where there is a collective failure of an organisation or individual school to provide an appropriate and professional service to people because of their background or experience. It can be seen in our attitudes, behaviours and procedures that amount to discrimination through unwitting prejudice, ignorance, thoughtlessness and stereotyping that disadvantages people.

What does tackling discrimination mean for everyone at the school?

We can all make a contribution towards making our equality policy a reality and making it real for individual pupils and staff.

Overcoming our own prejudices and assumptions about others is a major step towards embracing equality within our school. Assumptions are often based on appearances and are a part of how we, as individuals, view others.

Recognising that assumptions are not necessarily an accurate assessment of a person or situation, will allow individuals to make decisions based on equality. We can then avoid the costly effect assumptions may have on others.

Everyone within the school will need to rethink what we do and how we behave to achieve equality, which is not about treating everyone the same, but recognising and respecting differences and treating each other with fairness and dignity.

How will we implement the schools equal opportunity policy?

Policy and Planning – We hope that all our policies and practices will put into action our EOP. We will raise awareness and plan to make a difference in the outcomes for our students.

Service delivery and boarders care – The whole purpose of our EOP is to improve the service we provide for the students, their parents and carers and others who after all purchase a service from the school.

Community Development – We want to encourage community participation in the work of the school. This can be a challenge given that the students come to the school from a variety of communities. However the way in which we use the community as a means of teaching life and social skills is a practical example of our EOP in practice.

Employment – Our workforce is built on open and fair employment practices. Everyone who works at the school is valued and their contributions are welcomed.

How will we provide training on equality?

We will raise awareness about equality and provide training for all the school's employees. For those staff that are undertaking the NVQ 3 in Caring for Children and Young People, there will be a need to study and build a portfolio around one of the mandatory units – "Promote people's equality, diversity and rights."

As from May 2002 the school has a Race Equality Policy, this duty comes from both the Care Standards and the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2002. Staff are advised to visit the website of the Commission for Racial Equality in order to read and obtain excellent materials in this area.
